Birthday celebrations originated from Europe. People believe evil spirits will play tricks on the birthday person, so they get together and give presents on their birthdays. There are different ways to celebrate birthdays in different countries.

For example, people in the UK(英國) put some symbolic things, like money, in the cake. If the birthday person finds it, he will become rich. Italians(義大利人) usually pull the birthday kid's ears. Pulling ears one time means one year old. In Germany(德國), family members light candles in the morning. The birthday person can only blow out the candles after dinner, or he might get bad luck.
